

Passport Information

Your passport needs to be valid for at least six (6) months after your journey ends and should have a minimum of two (2) blank visa pages for entry and exit stamps for each country visited on your journey.

Visa Information

Visa requirements and laws regarding entry into foreign countries change frequently, and you, as the guest are solely responsible for ensuring that you have the necessary travel documents for entry into all countries during your journey. Non-U.S. citizens should contact the appropriate consular office for entry requirements pertaining to their journey.

A tourist visa is required for U.S. or Canadian passport holders for entry into China and must be obtained prior to departure by applying directly to a Chinese consulate or through a visa processing service. Travelers who have a valid 10-year multi-entry China visa on an expired passport and whose personal information has not changed must carry both the expired and new passports with them when travelling.

Canadian passport holders must have their fingerprints collected in person when applying for their China visa. For more information visit the Government of Canada's Travel Advice and Advisories page at travel.gc.ca/destinations/china.

Vaccination Requirements

Check with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (cdc.gov/travel) or the World Health Organization (who.int/en) for the latest on required/recommended vaccines for your destination. You'll want to visit your doctor or local travel clinic a couple of months before departure to allow time for any vaccinations to take effect or to fill any prescriptions.

A yellow fever vaccination, administered at least 10 days prior to your arrival, is only required for this destination if you are arriving from, or have transited through, a yellow fever-endemic area in South America or Africa. The CDC and WHO each provide a current list of all affected countries. Please be sure to carry the International Certificate of Vaccination provided by your physician, as you may be denied entry without it. If your physician advises against receiving the vaccination, they can provide you with the necessary documentation.
